

ARCHIBALD STANSFELD BELANEY

1888- 1938

↑
A rch
In 1888:
Archibald
Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and lifestyle of 20 years: For another source began to publish his writings: In 1926: On Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Belaney called: The Beaver People: His named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missiauga: Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whos e lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movie s: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids. Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self-proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Hoax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail slicing: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a lace curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

↑
d:
lan
England:
Archibald
Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child
Archibald
Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: Eng
Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in E
Archibald
Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald
Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and lifestyle of 20 years: For another source began to publish his writings: In 1926: On Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Belaney called: The Beaver People: His named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missiauga: Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whos e lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movie s: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids. Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self-proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Hoax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail slicing: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a lace curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

ARCHIBALD STANSFELD BELANEY

1888- 1938

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: England: In 1888: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in England: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and with her support he turned his back on a lifestyle of 20 years: For another source of income: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney began to publish his writings: In 1926: On a war service pension of $15 a month: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo moved to Northern Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Indians: Whom Archibald Stansfeld Belaney called: The Beaver People: His first book as an Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The Last Frontier: The National Parks of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missiauga: Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids. Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Hoax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail slicing: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a lace curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

ARCHIBALD STANSFELD BELANEY

1888- 1938

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: England: In 1888: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in England: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and with her support he turned his back on a lifestyle of 20 years: For another source of income: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney began to publish his writings: In 1926: On a war service pension of $15 a month: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo moved to Northern Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Indians: Whom Archibald Stansfeld Belaney called: The Beaver People: His first book as an Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The Last Frontier: The National Parks of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missiauga: Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids. Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Hoax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail slicing: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a lace curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

GREY OWL

ARCHIBALD STANSFELD BELANEY

1888- 1938

Arch

In 1888:
Archibald

Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life:

She encouraged him to stop trapping and lifestyle of 20 years: For another source began to publish his writings: In 1926: On

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo

Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Belaney called: The Beaver People: His named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions:

Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in

Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty

Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missianga:

Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck:

His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald

Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened:

A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids. Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake:

Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him:

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves:

The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap

of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever:

In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films

about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named:

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in

Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards

in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser:

Penis Toucher: Hoax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will

neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail

slicing: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding

in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed:

Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a lace curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

ibald Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: Eng

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in E

Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child

d:

lan

England: Archibald

with her support he turned his back on a

of income: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney

a war service pension of $15 a month:

moved to Northern Canada: Archibald

Indians: Whom Archibald Stansfeld

first book as an Ojibway Indian

Last Frontier: The National Parks

Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions:

Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in

Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty

Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missianga:

Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck:

His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald

Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened:

A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The

beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids. Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake:

Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him:

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves:

The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap

of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever:

In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his

wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films

about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of

two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named:

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in

Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards

in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser:

Penis Toucher: Hoax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will

neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver

documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail

slicing: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney

brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding

in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed:

Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a lace curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a

dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered

deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

ARCHIBALD STANSFELD BELANEY

1888- 1938

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: England: In 1888: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in England: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and with her support he turned his back on a lifestyle of 20 years: For another source of income: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney began to publish his writings: In 1926: On a war service pension of $15 a month: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo moved to Northern Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Indians: Whom Archibald Stansfeld Belaney called: The Beaver People: His first book as an Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The Last Frontier: The National Parks of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missianga: Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factory: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids: Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all through the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards: In his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Roax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on : He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a bee curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: England: In 1888: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in England: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and with her support he turned his back on a lifestyle of 20 years: For another source of income: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney began to publish his writings: In 1926: On a war service pension of $15 a month: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo moved to Northern Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Indians: Whom Archibald Stansfeld Belaney called: The Beaver People: His first book as an Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The Last Frontier: The National Parks of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missianga: Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factory: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids: Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all through the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards: In his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Roax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on : He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a bee curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too:

GREY OWL

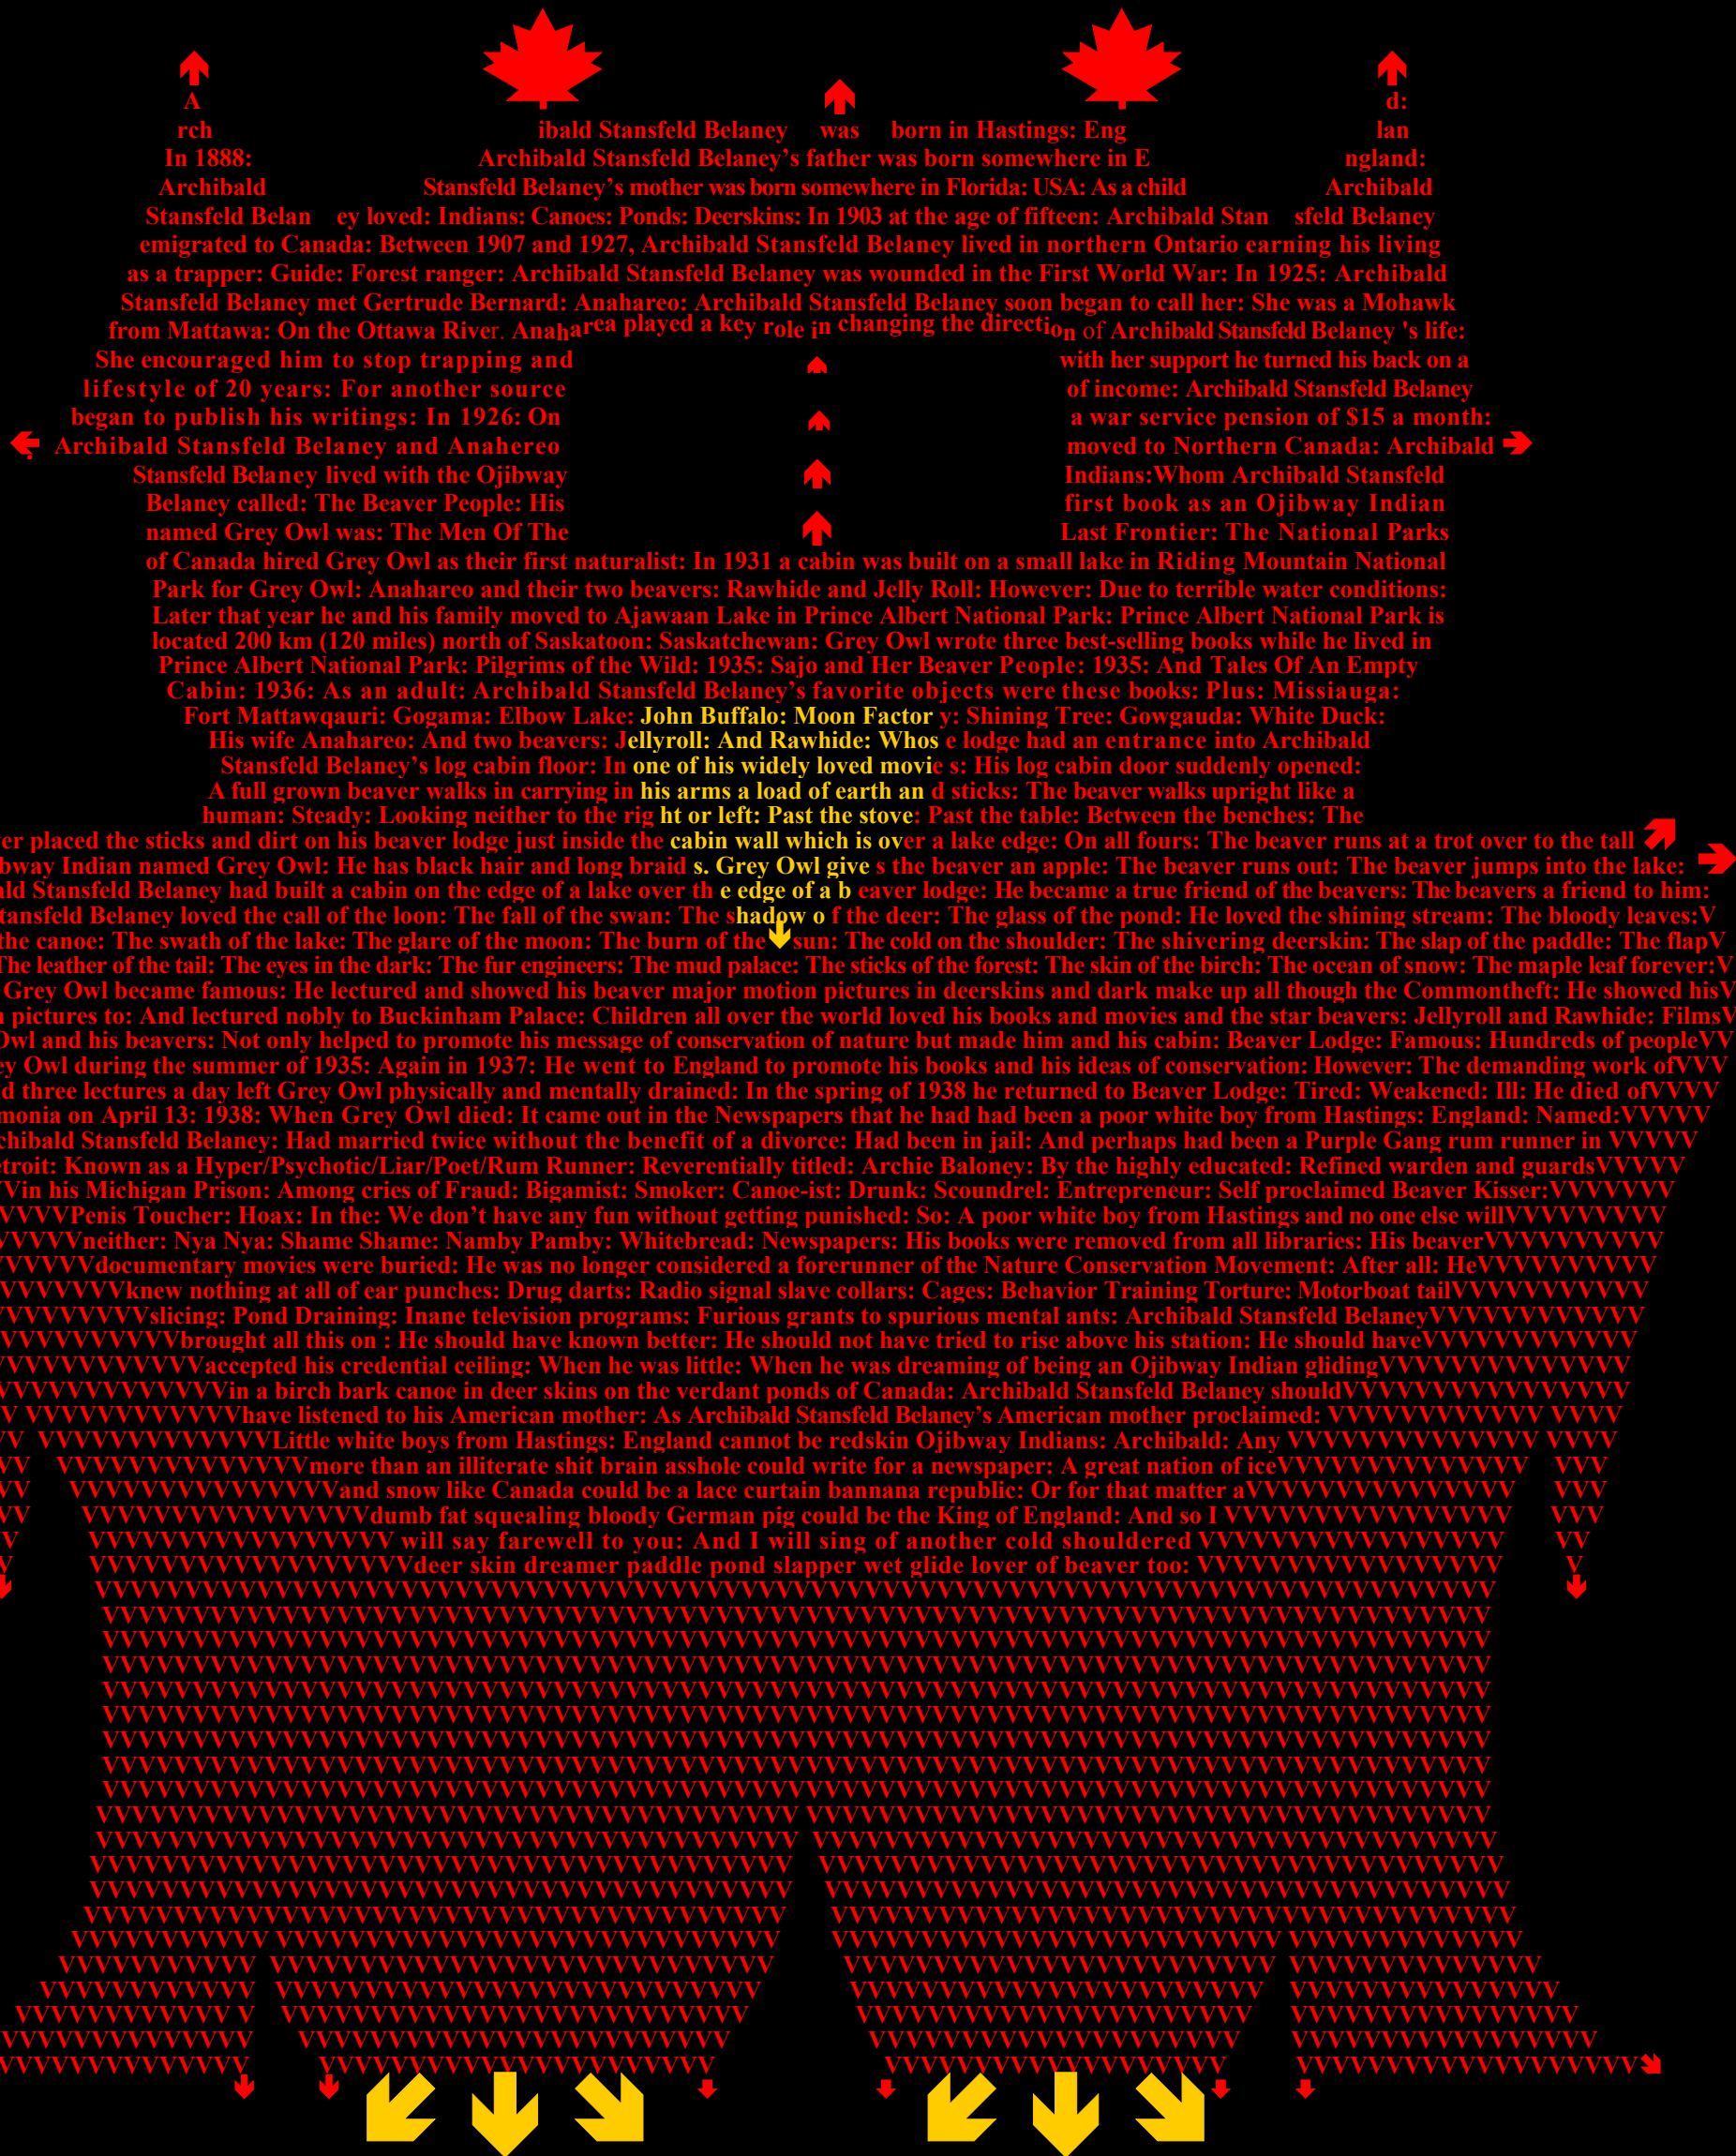

ARCHIBALD STANSFELD BELANEY

1888- 1938

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: England: In 1888: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in England: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and live the lifestyle of 20 years: For another source began to publish his writings: In 1926: On Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Belaney called: The Beaver People: His named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missianga: Fort Mattawquart: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tail sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids: Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckingham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Ram Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Roax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail screaming: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental arts: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a bee curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney

GREY OWL

OF THE ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED DEAD DREAMERS
1888- 1938

Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was born in Hastings: England: In 1888: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's father was born somewhere in England: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's mother was born somewhere in Florida: USA: As a child Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved: Indians: Canoes: Ponds: Deerskins: In 1903 at the age of fifteen: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney emigrated to Canada: Between 1907 and 1927, Archibald Stansfeld Belaney lived in northern Ontario earning his living as a trapper: Guide: Forest ranger: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney was wounded in the First World War: In 1925: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney met Gertrude Bernard: Anahareo: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney soon began to call her: She was a Mohawk from Mattawa: On the Ottawa River. Anahareo played a key role in changing the direction of Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's life: She encouraged him to stop trapping and lifestyle of 20 years: For another source began to publish his writings: In 1926: On Archibald Stansfeld Belaney and Anahareo Stansfeld Belaney lived with the Ojibway Belaney called: The Beaver People: His named Grey Owl was: The Men Of The of Canada hired Grey Owl as their first naturalist: In 1931 a cabin was built on a small lake in Riding Mountain National Park for Grey Owl: Anahareo and their two beavers: Rawhide and Jelly Roll: However: Due to terrible water conditions: Later that year he and his family moved to Ajawaan Lake in Prince Albert National Park: Prince Albert National Park is located 200 km (120 miles) north of Saskatoon: Saskatchewan: Grey Owl wrote three best-selling books while he lived in Prince Albert National Park: Pilgrims of the Wild: 1935: Sajo and Her Beaver People: 1935: And Tales Of An Empty Cabin: 1936: As an adult: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's favorite objects were these books: Plus: Missiauga: Fort Mattawqauri: Gogama: Elbow Lake: John Buffalo: Moon Factor y: Shining Tree: Gowganda: White Duck: His wife Anahareo: And two beavers: Jellyroll: And Rawhide: Whose lodge had an entrance into Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's log cabin floor: In one of his widely loved movies: His log cabin door suddenly opened: A full grown beaver walks in carrying in his arms a load of earth and sticks: The beaver walks upright like a human: Steady: Looking neither to the right or left: Past the stove: Past the table: Between the benches: The beaver placed the sticks and dirt on his beaver lodge just inside the cabin wall which is over a lake edge: On all fours: The beaver runs at a trot over to the tall sitting Ojibway Indian named Grey Owl: He has black hair and long braids. Grey Owl gives the beaver an apple: The beaver runs out: The beaver jumps into the lake: Yes: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney had built a cabin on the edge of a lake over the edge of a beaver lodge: He became a true friend of the beavers: The beavers a friend to him: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney loved the call of the loon: The fall of the swan: The shadow of the deer: The glass of the pond: He loved the shining stream: The bloody leaves: The glide of the canoe: The swath of the lake: The glare of the moon: The burn of the sun: The cold on the shoulder: The shivering deerskin: The slap of the paddle: The flap of the water: The leather of the tail: The eyes in the dark: The fur engineers: The mud palace: The sticks of the forest: The skin of the birch: The ocean of snow: The maple leaf forever: In the 1930's: Grey Owl became famous: He lectured and showed his beaver major motion pictures in deerskins and dark make up all though the Commonwealth: He showed his wildlife motion pictures to: And lectured nobly to Buckinham Palace: Children all over the world loved his books and movies and the star beavers: Jellyroll and Rawhide: Films about Grey Owl and his beavers: Not only helped to promote his message of conservation of nature but made him and his cabin: Beaver Lodge: Famous: Hundreds of people visited Grey Owl during the summer of 1935: Again in 1937: He went to England to promote his books and his ideas of conservation: However: The demanding work of two and three lectures a day left Grey Owl physically and mentally drained: In the spring of 1938 he returned to Beaver Lodge: Tired: Weakened: Ill: He died of pneumonia on April 13: 1938: When Grey Owl died: It came out in the Newspapers that he had had been a poor white boy from Hastings: England: Named: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney: Had married twice without the benefit of a divorce: Had been in jail: And perhaps had been a Purple Gang rum runner in Detroit: Known as a Hyper/Psychotic/Liar/Poet/Rum Runner: Reverentially titled: Archie Baloney: By the highly educated: Refined warden and guards in his Michigan Prison: Among cries of Fraud: Bigamist: Smoker: Canoe-ist: Drunk: Scoundrel: Entrepreneur: Self proclaimed Beaver Kisser: Penis Toucher: Hoax: In the: We don't have any fun without getting punished: So: A poor white boy from Hastings and no one else will neither: Nya Nya: Shame Shame: Namby Pamby: Whitebread: Newspapers: His books were removed from all libraries: His beaver documentary movies were buried: He was no longer considered a forerunner of the Nature Conservation Movement: After all: He knew nothing at all of ear punches: Drug darts: Radio signal slave collars: Cages: Behavior Training Torture: Motorboat tail slicing: Pond Draining: Inane television programs: Furious grants to spurious mental ants: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney brought all this on: He should have known better: He should not have tried to rise above his station: He should have accepted his credential ceiling: When he was little: When he was dreaming of being an Ojibway Indian gliding in a birch bark canoe in deer skins on the verdant ponds of Canada: Archibald Stansfeld Belaney should have listened to his American mother: As Archibald Stansfeld Belaney's American mother proclaimed: Little white boys from Hastings: England cannot be redskin Ojibway Indians: Archibald: Any more than an illiterate shit brain asshole could write for a newspaper: A great nation of ice and snow like Canada could be a lace curtain bannana republic: Or for that matter a dumb fat squealing bloody German pig could be the King of England: And so I will say farewell to you: And I will sing of another cold shouldered deer skin dreamer paddle pond slapper wet glide lover of beaver too: